DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of species 1, now claim 5 in the reply filed on 8/28/08 is acknowledged.

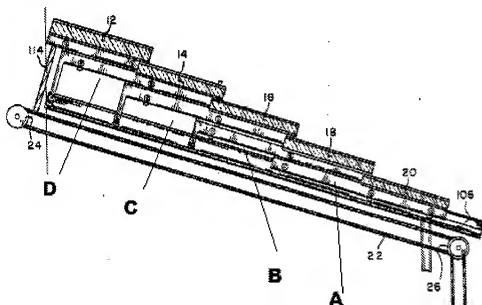

Priority

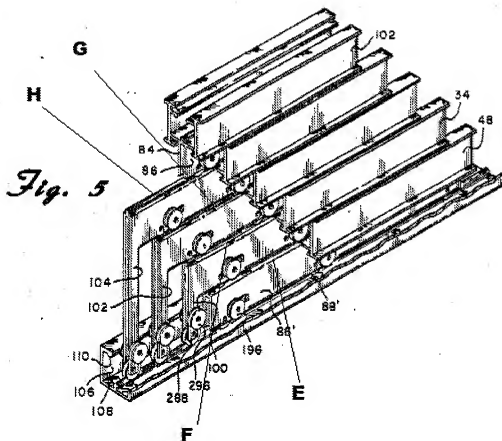

2. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Glick (US 4,616,451) in view of Ziv-Av (US 6,161,336). Glick discloses a set of n adjacent panels (12, 14, 16, 18, 20) wherein one panel is stationary (20, Fig. 3), and the remaining panels are movable in planes substantially parallel to the stationary panel and the panels have an equal width, a set of first racks (A, B, C, D), a set of second racks (E, F, G, H) attached to or formed unitarily with the panels, a set of $n-2$ wheel works (Fig. 4) rotatably mounted on the panels wherein the wheel works mesh together with the sets of first and second racks, the wheel works each including two coaxial and co rotating toothed wheels, one of the two coaxial and co-rotating toothed wheels being a larger diameter (108, 88", Fig. 4) meshed together with the first track and another of the two coaxial and co-rotating wheels being a second smaller diameter meshed together with the respective second rack (96', 96"). Regarding the lengths of the racks and diameter of the wheelworks, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the length of the racks equal to L or 2L or to change the diameter size of the wheels, since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the size of a component. A change in size is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1955). Further, changes in size or shape without special functional significance are not patentable. Research Corp.v. Nasco Industries, Inc., 501 F2d 358; 182 USPQ 449 (CA 7) cert. Denied 184 USPQ 193; 43 USLW 3359 (1974).

Glick does not disclose toothed wheels that mesh together, however, Ziv-Av does. Ziv-Av discloses a sliding door that moves along track (32) with a toothed wheel (36). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to have used geared wheels as taught by Ziv-Av. The motivation for doing so would be to have the wheels secured to the track.
